To whom it may concern:

It is a pleasure to write this letter of recommendation for Tyler Carr whom I have known for two years. I have found him to be a person of high values both morally and ethically. He is responsible in time management, and very dedicated in work and studies. I highly recommend him to you.

Tyler is a young man who stands out in a crowd by his ability to work in a creative venue. He stands takes on responsibility and challenges willingly and enthusiastically. When introduced to a new skill set, he goes well beyond the standard, raising the bar for everyone.

Whatever Tyler chooses to work on, he will bring to it a new insight and vision. He will see to the success of any project placed in his more than capable hands. He leads with humor, ability, and a personality that allows others to feel comfortable working with him.

Tyler will not let you down.. You will be proud to recognize him as one of your own.

Sincerely,

Lorann Suddarth
